"So I threw it to the ground and I strangled it — with both hands." Cas Overton

Henrico woman vs. rabid raccoon

BY TAMMIE SMITH
Richmond Times-Dispatch

Cas Overton knew she would not be able to get away from the violent raccoon that attacked her on the leg Saturday afternoon as she walked in Lewis Ginter Botanical Garden watching for birds.

So she did what she had to do. "I tried to shake it off and realized how violent it was," said Overton, 75, Henrico County. "As I moved backward away from it, I grabbed its neck and I knew that I couldn't get away from it. If I ran, it would be faster than I would and would just tear me to pieces.

"So I threw it to the ground and I strangled it — with both hands. I am a terrific animal lover. It's the last thing in the world I would have ever wanted to do, but you know self-preservation kicks in, and I guess a primitive part of my brain just went into operation and that was it," she said Tuesday, recalling the incident.

State laboratory test results reported Tuesday confirmed that the raccoon had rabies.

Overton on Saturday was taken by ambulance to Bon Secours St. Mary's Hospital for treatment. She was started on a series of shots to prevent rabies infection. She had the second shot Tuesday.

Health officials are asking anyone who may have been exposed to the raccoon or had their animals exposed to notify the Henrico Health Department at (804) 501-4529 or the Henrico Animal Control Office at (804) 501-5000. Police said that
